Dear David,

It is indeed a pleasure to give your company the highest recommendation possible. Anyone seeking a general contractor would be well served to give you the opportunity to deliver their requirements.

When we were ready to build our new sanctuary, not only were you the low bidder, but you and your staff were the most professional of all of the firms with whom we dealt. Your assistance in value engineering gave us comfort and confidence that we could build to meet our requirements but also stay within our budget.

Once the project started, your performance reviews were detailed, easy to understand, and always showed that we were on schedule and meeting our budget. Your foreman was extremely professional, had excellent rapport with the subcontractors and was responsive to our every question or request.

When our project was finished, on schedule and on budget, we could not have been more pleased. Your company more than exceeded our expectations with your personal and professional performance.

You have always been there for us by helping to coordinate any requests we have had since building completion. All in all, we were delighted that we had the opportunity to work with your firm. All of us at Stuart Congregational Church agreed that we had not only worked with a true professional but had made a good friend.

Best wishes for your future projects.

Sincerely,

Bernie Braskamp
Chairman
